

Remote Desktop

Description

Microsoft Remote Desktop is a client application that allows access and control the resources and data of a remote, or host, computer using an Internet connection. Remote desktop capabilities allow you to access a work computer from home whether or not the work computer connects to a network.

Students

This service is available to eligible student employees. Eligibility determined by Employee Services.

Faculty and Staff

This service is available to eligible Lynn staff and faculty. Eligibility determined by Employee Services.